Travel and Expense Reimbursement Policy

Fictional company policy document — created for the Agentic Enterprise Employee Assistant capstone.

1. Business Travel

Business travel must be related to approved company work such as client meetings, conferences, project activities, or other authorized business purposes.

2. Pre-Approval

Employees should obtain manager approval before booking business travel whenever the travel workflow requires pre-approval.

3. Air Travel

Economy-class airfare is reimbursable for standard business travel unless an exception is approved.

4. Hotel Reimbursement

Hotel expenses are reimbursable when reasonable, business-related, and supported by valid receipts. Employees should select reasonably priced accommodation.

5. Meals

Reasonable business-trip meal expenses may be reimbursed when they comply with the applicable expense workflow and receipt requirements.

6. Local Transportation

Reasonable business-related cab, taxi, or public transportation costs may be submitted with supporting documentation.

7. Expense Submission

- Employees should submit expenses with the required receipts and business purpose.
- Expenses may be reviewed and approved by the appropriate manager or Finance team.
- The expense system is the source of truth for an employee's submitted expense history.

8. Assistant Behavior

Policy questions about eligible travel expenses should use RAG. Questions about an employee's actual spending should use the expense data tool.
