Work From Home Policy

Fictional company policy document — created for the Agentic Enterprise Employee Assistant capstone.

1. Eligibility

Employees may work from home when their role, team requirements, and manager approval allow it.

2. Monthly Allowance

Eligible employees may use up to 8 work-from-home days per calendar month, subject to manager approval and operational requirements.

3. Request Process

- Employees should communicate planned WFH days to their manager according to team procedures.
- Critical meetings, customer commitments, and team activities may require employees to work from the office.

4. Availability

Employees working from home must remain reachable during their agreed working hours and maintain normal productivity and communication standards.

5. Equipment and Security

- Company devices must be used according to IT security requirements.
- Employees should work from a reasonably secure environment and avoid exposing confidential information to unauthorized persons.

6. Exceptions

Long-term or exceptional remote-work arrangements require appropriate management and People Operations approval.

7. Assistant Behavior

The assistant should use this document for general WFH policy questions. For questions about how many WFH days a specific employee has already used, it should use employee-specific data.
